Acknowledgments

The authors are indebted to the many people who helped with this manual. Foremost, this manual in large part builds upon Usury and Consumer Credit Regulation (1987), co-authored by Kevin Brown, with substantial contributions from Ernest Sarason and Robert Sable. Research assistance for Cost of Credit was provided by Elizabeth De Armond, Gary Zalkin, Allen Agnitti, Kurt Terwilliger, Thea Olmstead, Denise Lisio, Eric Secoy, Elizabeth Ryan, Sara McPherson, Pamela Stevens, Anthony Alva, Elizabeth Kaplan, Elizabeth Miller, Chuck Jackson, Katherine Comer, Claire McGorrian, Catherine Warren, and Lisa Yee. In the first edition, David Ramp wrote § 7.5.3.2; Rita Gordon Pereira authored §§ 11.3.1 and 8.5.5.3; Bruce Plenk of Utah Legal Services updated and revised Chapter 3; Pamelee McFarland and Elizabeth Miller wrote § 10.7.2. Thanks to Deborah Schmedemann, Stephen Sanders, and Addison Parker of Appalachian Research & Defense Fund in Prestonsburg, KY, who contributed the pleadings reproduced in Appendix F. Denise Lisio provided valuable assistance in updating Appendices C & D. Section 6.5 remains largely the work of Robert Hobbs.

Denise Lisio provided editorial supervision; Judy O'Donnell, Ellen McAlister and Laurel Silverman provided editorial assistance; Mary McLean prepared the index; Jonathan Sheldon oversaw production; Debbie Parziale and Laurel Silverman typed the manuscript; and Xylutions, Boston, Massachusetts provided typesetting services.

In addition to those primary forces behind Usury and Consumer Credit Regulation mentioned earlier, others contributing to earlier works are: Charles Baird, Alan White, David Searles, Ellen Dente, Andrea Simpson, John Ambacher, Kathleen Gavin, Bonnie Shane and Robert Elwood. Special note must be made of Mark Leymaster who wrote the Center's first usury volume, Consumer Usury and Credit Overcharges (1982), from which all subsequent work evolved.

Case Consulting

Case analysis and consulting for lawyers representing low-income consumers are among NCLC's primary activities. Administration on Aging funds allow us to provide free consulting to advocates representing elderly consumers on many types of cases. The Massachusetts Legal Assistance Corporation funds case assistance to advocates representing low-income Massachusetts consumers. Cy pres funding from consumer class actions in 1999 allowed NCLC to provide brief consultations to others without charge. More comprehensive case analysis and research is available for a low fee.
