She is the editor of Pennsylvania Consumer Law, editor of the First Edition of Ohio Consumer Law, co-author of Unfair and Deceptive Acts and Practices (1997, 2001), Consumer Warranty Law (1997, 2001), Repossessions and Foreclosures (5th ed. 2002), Automobile Fraud (2d ed. 2003), contributing author to Fair Debt Collection (5th ed. 2004), Truth in Lending (5th ed. 2003) and The Cost of Credit (2d ed. 2000), and the 1992 recipient of the Vern Countryman Consumer Law Award.

Stephen Gardner is Director of Litigation for the Center for Science in the Public Interest and of counsel to NCLC. Previously, he was assistant dean of clinical education at Southern Methodist University School of Law, assistant attorney general in both Texas and New York, students' attorney at the University of Texas, and a legal aid attorney at what is now Texas Rio Grande Legal Services.

Elizabeth De Armond is on the faculty of Chicago-Kent College of Law, where her research focuses on consumer law and privacy issues. She has contributed frequently to NCLC publications and is a co-author of the 2004 supplement to Fair Credit Reporting as well as a contributing author to Automobile Fraud (2d ed. 2003), Consumer Warranty Law (2d ed. 2000), and Fair Credit Reporting (5th ed. 2002). Previously, she was in private practice in Texas and a clerk for Judge Cornelia Kennedy of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit.

Anthony Rodriguez is an NCLC staff attorney, and previously served as the Director of the Massachusetts Attorney General's Disability Rights Project and as an Assistant Attorney General in the Consumer Protection and Civil Rights Divisions, where he litigated UDAP, telemarketing, credit repair, housing discrimination and public accommodations cases. He is co-author of Fair Credit Reporting (5th ed. 2002) and contributing author to Credit Discrimination (3d ed. 2002).

Acknowledgments: We are particularly grateful to Denise Lisio for editorial supervision, Nathan Day for editorial assistance, Shannon Halbrook for production assistance, Shiriron Williams for assistance with cite and fact checking, Mary McLean for indexing, Xylutions for typesetting services, and Neil Fogarty of Law Disks for developing the CD-Rom.

A large number of people also assisted with this edition, including Olivia Wein on utility issues, Thomas Grande for the qui tam section, Deanne Loonin on student loans and other topics, Eric Carlson on long term care, Cathy Lesser Mansfield on holder in due course issues, Mark Budnitz on banking issues, and also to Dmitry Feofanov, Michael Donovan, and Robert Eppes for a number of substantive contributions. Thanks also to Elizabeth Ryan, Allen Agnitti, Kurt Terwilliger, Steve Boyajian, and Mary Kingsley for legal research and writing.

This Sixth Edition builds on the prior five editions and eighteen annual supplements. As such, this edition is indebted to the efforts of over 100 individuals who contributed to this project starting over two decades ago. There are now too many people to list here, but a collective thanks to everyone. We also want to express our appreciation to the many state attorneys general and private attorneys for, over the years, sending in cases, regulations, and interpretations on their states' UDAP statutes. We also want to thank Morton Needelman for starting us on this path over thirty years ago.
